

AWAIT ORDERS ON SIX HELD BY STATE POLICE

Authorities Pick Up Car With California Plates

ONE WOMAN, FIVE MEN IN MACHINE

Public Utilities Investigators Are Called In Case

One woman and five men, one of them armed, were arrested at 1 p. m. today by State Highway Patrolmen A. E. Mercer and Marion Curry of the local barracks as the group drove west on East State st. Acting on orders to pick up all occupants of a large Cadillac sedan bearing a California license number, 6D8789, the officers sighted the car as it turned at the intersection of East State st and Lincoln ave.

A message from the patrol radio station, WPHC, at Massillon, sent Patrolmen Mercer and Curry to the downtown street intersection here. Sighting the car, coming north on South Lincoln ave., the officers pulled alongside, with revolvers drawn, and stopped the machine on East State st., one hundred feet from the postoffice.

The patrolmen boarded the car and ordered it driven to police headquarters in city hall where the men were placed in jail on suspicion. In searching the men, the officers, assisted by Police Chief Ralph S. Soffer, found a .32 calibre revolver and gun holster on one man who also carried a blackjack. A small knife, a railroad detective's badge of the New York Central lines, and an identification card bearing the name E. J. Hollis.

State patrolmen said the men had ordered it driven to police headquarters in city hall where the men were placed in jail on suspicion.

A. F. OF L. MAPS PARTY OUTLINE

Turn from Organization To Study Latest Labor Proposal

(By Associated Press) ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 18.—The American Federation of Labor, fresh from a bitter struggle over internal organization, turned today to a proposal to establish an independent labor party.

Assertions by members that the support given organized labor by the two major political organizations was insincere brought demands at the annual convention for separate action.

Defeat of the proposal appeared certain in view of strong conservative sentiment for reaffirmation of the federation's present policy of refraining from direct political action.

Proponents of the plan were determined, however, to carry on and already have perfected a permanent organization headed by William F. Kelly of the Textile Workers.

Among party resolutions offered, was one calling for creation of state party organizations with federation aid within three months to hold a national congress next year.

The convention took up the party proposals after the conservative craft unionists twice had defeated the industrial group's proposals to establish a single union for each of the mass production industries, thus grouping the various craftsmen affected.

The intensity of the argument brought hints of secession by industrial unionists if organization policy was unchanged. The industrial unit proponents, among them John L. Lewis, of the United Mine Workers, charged the federation officials had failed to expand the 3,500,000 membership among more than 25,000,000 unorganized workers.

The executive committee comprises: Mrs. Rena Whitehead, Lewis, Geo. Town, president; Lewis, Geo. North, Benton, vice president; Hamer, Oesch, Sebring, secretary; and Miss Mabel Sanor, Reading, treasurer.

Members of the program committee were: Lewis, Geo. Glass, chairman; Rev. Walker Brownlee, Sebring; and Mrs. Agnes Wernet, Homeworth.

Ohio Woman, 103, Sets 120 As Her Lifetime Goal

(By Associated Press) ST. PARIS, O., Oct. 18.—They're a long-lived folk, these Donahoes, and mother Catherine Donahoe Hallan, born these 103 years ago today in County Clair, Ireland, wants to live on to 120.

With her wit as nimble as when she was a colleen and a bit of the blarney on her tongue, she sorrowfully because she can't go out and visit.

"When I was young and could go out," she keeps, "there was nothing to go to. Now that I'm old and can't go out, there's everything."

"I tell you, young man, when you live to be 103 years old you're going some. Yes, sir, and I'd like to reach 120. But I doubt if I can make it."

Her mother lived to be 103 too. Live it over again?

"I'd do it just the same. I would not change a thing. God has been good to me and when He is good to you the whole world is good to you."

"I always worked hard and felt good. I feel good today. I get up at 9 o'clock in the morning and never lie down all day. I eat three meals a day."

There's Miss Mary. She was 78 last Wednesday. Mrs. John Skeels of Columbus is the baby. She's only 58. Pat is 73. John and Mrs. John Long are somewhere between.

"I had 12 children and I raised 11 of them. They were good children. I love children. Even now I'd take all I could get, but that would be another miracle."

"I have everything I want. Why shouldn't I be satisfied? Why shouldn't I like to live my life over again?"

"Me and my old man stood together worked together, until God took him away 23 years ago. He was a good husband."

That was James Hallan, who fished in the Irish sea. She was a lady of 23 when they were married in 1855.

Republican, Former Minister, Gets Copy of Now-Famous Plea to Clergy

New Jersey's Charles Eaton Would Like To Know Where Roosevelt Got His Mailing List

By ERNEST G. WARREN Associated Press Staff Writer. (Copyright, 1935, By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Representative Charles A. Eaton, a Republican from New Jersey, expressed incredulity, amazement, and then amusement today over a letter he found awaiting his return to the Capital. It was a copy of the now-famous request of President Roosevelt to the clergy of the country for advice and comment on new deal acts and policies—addressed to the Rev. Charles A. Eaton.

He has not served in his ministerial capacity since 1919, and for the past eleven years has been a member of the Republican side of the house of representatives.

It was Eaton who, during the past session and with the blessing of his party's leaders, heckled and took his Democratic colleagues to task on the ground they were becoming "just a bit too demagogic."

He also introduced a resolution inviting the President to address a joint session of the house and senate "to explain why the solemn covenants and pledges made with the people in the Democratic national platform of 1932 and by himself as the Democratic nominee for president of the United States have been broken."

Eaton said today he would "like to know where the mailing list" for the presidential letter was obtained.

"I feel certain," he said, "that a request to me for advice and comment would be the last thing in the mind of any member of the administration."

"Yet however inadvertent the request, it seems to me that the best reply I can give the President is to send him a copy of my resolution, now smothered by the Democratic majority of the house rules committee, and suggest the best thing he could do would be to seize the first opportunity to have the committee discharge that resolution and accept the invitation to explain. It would be most helpful and heartful."

The resolution, a copy of which is being sent to the President by Eaton, recalls that the 1932 platform pledged "maintenance of the national credit by a federal budget annually balanced on the basis of accurate executive estimates with the revenue raised by a system of taxation levied on the principle of ability to pay."

Containing the President had not kept his promises, Eaton submitted that the expenditures of the government from President Washington to President Wilson, 1789 to 1913, a total of 124 years, were $24,521,845,000 as against expenditures of $24,206,533,000 for 1914-35 as estimated by President Roosevelt himself.

The committee in charge of the supper includes Mrs. Cecil Crothers, Mrs. O. E. Bush, Mrs. Homer Entrikin, Mrs. Edward Stewart, Mrs. George Bayes and Mrs. Howard McDonald.

Blame Ignorance For Economic Woes

URBANA, Oct. 18.—Congressman Brooks Fletcher of Marion blames our national economic woes on ignorance.

"Our whole disastrous economic condition is the result of not knowing, economically, financially, socially, politically and legislatively, what to do and when to do it," he said yesterday in an address.

"Organized planning and thinking in business, finance and legislation is the great need."

Fletcher expressed belief that relief is now a permanent problem.

The "get it done" committee was ready to submit to the governor its recommendations on four departments: civil service, the tax commission, the industrial commission, and industrial relations.

The governor's veto and a wrong basis of computation, Caren said, nullifies the survey's recommendations in the tax commission.

The only way to save the taxpayer's money in the highway department, he continued, "is to reduce the gasoline tax a cent."

Returns Home After Automobile Accident

W. P. Carpenter of South Lincoln ave., released yesterday afternoon from a Mt. Vernon hospital where he had been taken following a heart attack, returned home last night, apparently recovered.

Mr. Carpenter went to the hospital following an accident in Mt. Vernon during which his car, which he was attempting to park, ran over the sidewalk and hit three persons, killing one and injuring three others. Jack House, 19, of Brink Haven, died before reaching the hospital. Clyde Parsons, 63, of Brink Haven, is in Percy's hospital. Mr. Vernon, with a dislocated ankle and cuts. R. C. Steinmetz, the third victim, was not seriously injured.

Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter, Mrs. H. K. Yaggi and Mrs. Hiram Greiner had stopped for lunch at Mt. Vernon, enroute to Columbus. Mrs. Carpenter, Mrs. Yaggi and Mrs. Greiner were out of the car at the time of the accident.

Mussolini Must Abandon War, Is Britain's Ultimatum; Calls n France to Choose Between Italy and the League

LAVAL IS STRIVING FOR PEACE

Wants England to Renounce Right to Take Individual Measures; Shadow of Germany on North Is Factor

(By Associated Press) Rome, London and Paris were spotlighted sharply today on the diplomatic front in the Italo-Ethiopian war as Premier Pierre Laval of France strove anxiously to maintain the peace of the Mediterranean and achieve peace in East Africa.

Guns in Ethiopia barked only fitfully as opposing forces still maneuvered on the northern front and listened to the drip of rain in the south; but the brows of foreign offices were creased deeply by the growing breach between the British and the Italians.

Authoritative sources in Paris said Laval had asked Great Britain to renounce formally any blockade or individual sanctions which might lead to war before France promises aid against Italy.

In London, British government officials insisted France must deliver a frank "yes" or "no" answer to Britain's terse inquiry on Mediterranean aid in the event of hostilities.

From Rome came word that a vast area of Northern Africa was drawn into the war-like picture, with reports of barbed wire entanglements stretched along the frontier of Italy's colony, Libya.

BRITISH WARSHIPS, PLANES READY

British warships rode at anchor off Alexandria, Egypt, and nearby hundreds of British airplanes raised a hoarse-throated voice of power.

The blunt issue drawn by Britain was that Premier Mussolini must abandon his war in Ethiopia.

For the moment at least, Britain's instrumentality of compulsion was the sanctions of the League of Nations, but Geneva fretted over a crisis in plans to impose such penalties on Italy as to force that nation to cease hostilities. Observers believed the next 24 hours might tell whether the sanctions campaign would proceed directly against Italy or would fail.

France, seeking the key to peace and hoping desperately she would not be forced to abandon the friendship of either Italy or Great Britain, through Laval was reported to have asked Mussolini for the last time what his most reasonable terms for peace in East Africa would be.

Laval withheld a formal reply to Britain's "show-down" demand—that France choose between Italy and the league—until a reply had been obtained on two points:

That France, it was reported authoritatively, will let the British fleet use her Mediterranean bases and will lend naval aid in case Italy attacks, if Britain agrees to recall several warships from the Mediterranean in exchange for Italian withdrawal of troops from Cyrenaica, Italian North African colony.

And, that France will support Britain fully in application of sanctions if Britain renounces the right to take individual measures and promises not to block Italy unless the league so decides.

The British press hinted that Britain might denounce the Locarno treaty in the event of an unfavorable answer from France on the Italy-or-league demand. An unconfirmed report in Paris said Laval inclined further toward supporting Britain after General Maxime Weygand told him a split with Britain would lead to a German attack on the continent within two years.

TRIALS OF A HEAD MAN

Americans, following the war in Ethiopia with maps and newspapers, are beginning to run into difficulty. They are finding it isn't enough to know the approximate position of the Italian armies, which is a difficult matter to follow in itself, but not so difficult as the thing that is really important. What does Premier Mussolini intend to do?

There seems no way to determine exactly what the dictator's plans are. Perhaps that is because the dictator, himself, is uncertain. He, also, may waver between the possibility of a settlement in the near future permitting Italy to keep the territory it has occupied and the larger possibility, which entails war in Europe as well as Africa.

The one fact about Premier Mussolini which no one challenges is that he has taken a desperate chance. Success, meaning chiefly military glory will enhance his dictatorial prestige. Failure, meaning failure to bring either glory or territory to Italy, will undermine it. Duce's dictatorial prestige just as surely as defeat brings criticism to the unsuccessful contender in any contest.

Benito Mussolini has put himself to a test. Fittingly enough, recent reports of desertion and lack of unity among the forces of Emperor Haile Selassie show plainly that Ethiopia's royal dictator is undergoing the same test. Both men have accepted responsibility for leading their nations into war, which always makes a dozen knives for every hero. The odds are overwhelmingly against them, yet neither one dares to lose. Their personal fate hangs in the balance. Truly, the trials of a head man are almost too severe to be faced by any except those whose circumstances force to a conclusion.

Perhaps it is only by assuming that Premier Mussolini and Emperor Haile Selassie are victims rather than victors of their political machinations that the observer can make sense of what is happening.

HITCHED TO A STAR

The federal government's original intention was to change from direct relief to work relief some time before the end of the summer months. Some optimists believed the transition would be made at the beginning of the current fiscal year, last July 1.

The deadline, after being moved back several times, finally was fixed definitely at Nov. 1. The federal government warned it would make no further concessions to delay. Either local government would accept responsibility for support of unemployable by Nov. 1, or there would be a crisis.

Local government officials laughed up their sleeve at the threat, because they knew that their preparations, however inadequate they might be, still were equal to the federal work relief program which was going to be substituted for direct relief. Circumstances caused them to pretend they didn't know Washington was bluffing, however.

The fact is, federal expenditures for recovery aid, instead of increasing, are lagging behind expenditures a year ago. Work relief, which is primarily a task of administration, has bogged down President Roosevelt's vision, because it lacked solid substance, hasn't materialized. Saying such and so would be done by a certain date hasn't caused it to be done. The program has suffered from poor administration.

It is not surprising, therefore, that Ohio is giving assurance of a continuation of direct relief until at least Dec. 1. In naming a new deadline, the federal relief administrators have hitched their wagon to a new star. When Dec. 1 comes, it probably will be necessary to find yet another star. In the meantime, local officials, believing the ax never will fall are putting off the evil day of returning to local responsibility for the unemployable section of the relief burden. The cry of "Wolf!" has been emitted so often they don't take it seriously any more. The whole affair demonstrates once more that a government policy is no better than the men who are responsible for making it effective.

THE STARS SAY

For Saturday, October 19

Although this day may develop some very important gestures for progress and prosperity, yet, according to the mutual as well as lunar configurations there will be much tact, good business acumen and precaution required to reap these advantages. There are signs of intrigue, betrayal, misrepresentation and fraud, with perilous dealings with strangers as well as in employment. The mind will be alert, shrewd and able to cope with such hazards, but guard the speech well.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday is on the eve of a year of splendid promise for progress and prosperity but these must be wrung from difficult and perilous circumstances. Fraud, treachery, slander and intrigue menace, and while the mind will be keen and shrewd in such encounters, there is need for tact and diplomatic manipulation. Employment needs safeguarding.

A child born on this day may be alert and enterprising mentally, with ambition and high purpose, but it may encounter many difficulties and make many changes.

Notable nativity: Fannie Hurst, author.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 18—Thoughts while strolling: Top in taps—Eleanor Powell. Lindbergh overdue in the air is not news any more. That bird always shows up. Will Irwin's curly locks. Best named negro fiction character: Octavius Roy Cohen's Florian Slappee, the Birmingham dude.

Stick-along-the-picket-fencey honey: Kennecott Copper. Who can forget the way Sothorn and Marlowes romped through The Taming of the Shrew? Never saw a dull Skippy strip. Ditto: Believe it or Not. Nobody can slick up their hair like Georges Metaxa. Not since Valentino, anyway.

Goofy play title: "A Slight Case of Murder." Wonder if Talbot Mundy knows Rascot Lundy? Paul Gallico thinks Joe Louis can lick Arthur Brisbane's gorilla. Dandy smoke ring word. Coronado. A wince to see that sterling actor William Faversham doing bits in the movies.

Those romantic tea time nymphs who go to hear Eddie Duchin improvise—and dream. Grace George could pass for 35. Suggestion for a magazine piece: Broadway by Max Baer. That dapper Chinese communist who passes out free tracts after the theatre-bowing and scraping.

Zoe Akins's name: a dentist's drill touching an exposed nerve. The bald heads have to go some to beat the shine on Postmaster Farley's dome. Coffee and sandwich place called "The Royal Dunkery." I like Baird Leonard's favorite time for work—"the last possible moment."

Incidentally, Miss Leonard has recorded some writing quirks of interest to the craft. Lord Tennyson wrote best abed sipping gin and water. Voice: "Who couldn't?" Carlyle and Marcel Proust needed noise-proof isolation, while Conan Doyle wanted a dozen or more around him and often joined in their conversation. Theophile Gautier and Marie Corelli were locked in their rooms until they had written certain amounts. And Jerome K. Jerome composed while walking the streets at night.

Many readable books are defeated by their titles. The grandest of mystery writers, Oppenheim, is so often unfortunate in his selections. The obvious usually plinks the bull's-eye. Publishers say few titles touch Sinclair Lewis's "Main Street." Today came a number of a title in Edison Marshall's inscribed copy of "Sam Campbell, Gentleman." Margaret Fishback for a published group of her poems a few years ago called it "Out of My Head." That's the informality publishers crave.

Informality also frequently produces the finest literature, the best writing size-ups and criticism. Lord Northcliffe wrote some of his most telling articles during the war, motoring home at night or in the compartments of trains. Bob Davis in his magazine days used to take long street car rides to read manuscripts. The jolting and confusion somehow strengthened his powers of concentration. On a summer car to Rockaway one day he "discovered" Fannie Hurst. W. R. Hearst writes editorial criticisms and suggestions in long hand across the face of his papers and magazines for various editors.

Restaurants report that roasted baby turkey is the season's favorite dish with New York gourmets. Another offering in high favor is Potatoes Auvergne, which is a baked potato halved, stuffed with mashed potato flecked with green and red peppers, a suspicion of garlic and centered with a chunk of butter. Salt rising bread is also on some menus in swank places. Also fresh buttermilk and wet hash. The Depot Short Order motif!

For name pronouncers: Hoyningen Huene. He is the fashion photographer whose spreads in the magazines are among the Ambitious Yens of society folk. Indeed so great is the demand he takes a three months sabbatical every summer, which he spends at a surprising villa in North Africa, just outside Morocco. The temperamental, highly artistic photographer is a development during the past 10 years. They stand in the fame roll with contemporary painters and musicians. And their incomes are often in five figures. Cecil Beaton's, for instance.

Charlie Hughes passes along the one about the Detroit traffic cop bawling out an unassuming lady motorist. Said he: "Don't you know what I mean when I hold up my hand?" She, meekly: "I ought to. I have been a school teacher for 25 years."

Brush-Moore Bonds Find Brisk Market

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, Oct. 18.—Bankers saw evidence of a brisk demand for investment securities today in the swift sale of a $2,500,000 bond issue of the Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc.

Underwriters announced today when books were opened that advance orders had been received in excess of the amount of the offering. The bonds are of the 5 percent 10-year sinking fund variety, and were priced at 99. Proceeds are to be used to retire a previous 6½ percent issue the underwriters said.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland
New York City

Dr. Copeland

Pneumonia
Health records show that the winter months are by far the most dangerous to the human welfare.

One reason for this is because a great many of us are crowded together in overheated and poorly ventilated rooms. We crowd together, hugging the stove or the radiator. This close contact encourages the rapid spread of germs and accounts for the numerous colds, coughs and infections encountered during cold weather.

Of all the diseases that attack the breathing apparatus, pneumonia is the most dreaded. It has been referred to as the "captain of the men of death." It is particularly dangerous when it attacks a person who is in a rundown condition. In cold and changing weather special efforts should be made to guard against pneumonia.

How It Is Spread

The disease is caused by a type of the germ known as the "pneumococcus." It is spread through coughing, sneezing and carelessness in expectorating. The germ may be transmitted also by means of infected tools and eating utensils.

As a rule the sufferer first complains of severe chill, followed by fever. Then there is a marked feeling of illness, with loss of appetite, rapid breathing and a heavy sensation in the chest. In most cases the patient coughs up a bloody or "rusty" discharge.

These signs should always arouse suspicion of pneumonia. The patient should be sent to bed immediately and placed under the care of a physician. Avoid self-medication and do not resort to home remedies without the sanction of your doctor.

Bear in mind that the most important part of the treatment of pneumonia is complete rest and careful nursing. If these cannot be obtained at home it is best to place the patient in a hospital or other institution where he can be assured of adequate nursing.

May Need Oxygen

In severe cases of pneumonia it may be necessary at some stages to resort to the administration of oxygen. This may be at the time of the turning point, the crisis, and unless oxygen is available the case may prove fatal. It can readily be seen how difficult it might be to give this treatment at home.

Sometimes the "pneumonia serum" is given. This is particularly valuable in certain forms of pneumonia but unfortunately is not beneficial in all cases.

Let me warn against the neglect of a simple cold or cough. What may appear to you to be something trivial may be the forerunner of serious involvement of the lungs which may terminate in one form of pneumonia.

To prevent pneumonia avoid cold, fatigue and undernourishment. If you are convalescing from a simple cold or infection, stay in bed as long as the doctor orders it. Do not go out of doors or back to the office too quickly. At all times avoid unnecessary exertion and exposure to excessive heat and cold. Carefully guard the very young and the old. Pneumonia is especially dangerous when it attacks children and elderly persons.

INTRODUCED TOMORROW

THE NEW FORD V-8 FOR 1936

Why do we say The New Ford V-8 for 1936?

What is new about it?

Of course, the newest engine in the low-price car field is still the V-8 engine. Since Ford made it available to all car users (keeping it as economical as cars with fewer cylinders) the Ford V-8 has been the newest engine on the market, and remains the newest for 1936.

You may buy a car on minor "talking points"—some specially advertised feature "with the car thrown in"—but, after all, it is the engine you buy when you buy a car. Hence we put the engine first.

Other new points about the car make a long list.

Its lines are much more beautiful. The hood is longer and sweeps forward over the distinctive new radiator grille, giving the car a length and grace that are instantly impressive. The fenders are larger, with a wide flare. Horns are concealed behind circular grilles beneath the headlamps. New steel wheels.

Ford upholstery—always of sterling quality and excellent taste—is rich and enduring. The appointments of the car have a new touch of refinement. There is no question about the increased beauty of the Ford V-8 for 1936.

In more practical matters, many improvements have been made—Steering is made easier by a new steering gear ratio. The cooling system circulates 5½ gallons of water through a new, larger radiator. Natural thermo-siphon action is assisted by two centrifugal water pumps. New louvers permit a rapid air-flow around the engine.

Easier, quieter shifting of Ford gears—The gear shift lever now travels a shorter distance.

The two qualities you want in brakes—Brakes that stop the car with ease and certainty. Ford Super-Safety Brakes of the long-tested, fool-proof, mechanical design.

Safety—as always—in the electrically welded genuine steel body. Safety Glass all around at no extra cost. Hundreds have written grateful letters because this glass has protected the safety of their families.

A car you can drive without strain all day, if you like, in city or country. Steady, holds the road, responds to the driver's touch like a well-trained horse. You don't have to "push" or "fight" the Ford V-8—driver and car easily get on terms of good understanding with each other.

An engine has much to do with the roominess of a car. Very much indeed. A long engine uses up car space. The compact V-8 engine permits much of the ordinary engine space to be used by passengers.

It really is a great car in every way, this 1936 Ford V-8—the finest, safest, most dependable Ford car ever built. On display tomorrow by Ford dealers.

ALTHOUSE TEAM IN FINAL DRILL

Will Tangle With Liverpool Team There Sunday

Coach Sammy Drakulich sent his Althouse Motors semi-pro squad through their final practice yesterday in preparation for the opening game against the Thompson Restaurant eleven of East Liverpool at the Pottery city Sunday.

Impressed by the performance of the squad in signal drill yesterday, Coach Drakulich believes they will be in top form for the game Sunday.

How They Lined Up

Holding down the flank positions in the signal drill last night were Crowl and Lesch, both former Salem High school players. Duke of Sebring and DeJane of Washingtonville were assigned to the tackle berths with Pamo and Adam Fukalski at guards. Matt Liephart occupied the key post at center.

In the backfield Coach Drakulich used Zebbo of Sebring and Ralph Roelen of Salem alternately at quarterback, Bill Smith, former Salem High and Pitt freshman player, and Wayne Russell at half, and Bob Chappell, a last year's Salem High star, at fullback.

Jacobson alternated at a guard position with Pukalski and Welch of Sebring relieved Russell at right half during the signal drill.

Other Members

Other members of the team who will be available for duty Sunday are Trombitas and Kaercher at ends, Altomare and Stratton at guards, Liston and Troll, both of Columbiana, and Harold Roelen of Salem at backfield positions.

The squad will leave for Liverpool at 12 p. m. Sunday. Players are asked to report at the Althouse garage.

BASEBALL POT STILL BOILING

Trade Talk Reaches New High As Mack Considers New Deals

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 18.—You can pretty well write it down now—almost anything is likely to happen when Connie Mack lifts the lid on the baseball pot that has been boiling for weeks with rumored deals involving his Athletics stars.

The talk that has included almost every outstanding player on the club, has up for sale or trade to about half the teams in the American League, reached a new high overnight with receipt of word that the A's lean leader is in New York, possibly considering another of his history-making deals.

Leading possibilities were these:

That Jimmy Fox, first baseman and top-flight slugger, would go to either the Chicago White Sox, Boston Red Sox, or the Cleveland Indians.

That Pinky Higgins, one of the classiest third-basemen in the league, is slated for the New York Yankees.

That Roger (Ellis) Cramer, outfielder extraordinary, would go with the White Sox or Red Sox when 1936 rolls around.

That infielder Eric McNair is headed for the Yankees.

That Bob Johnson and the rookie outfield find, Wally Moses, are also under consideration for transfer to some other club.

That any one or all of these deals may be consummated; that none may go through, particularly because of the price tags Mack is said to be putting on the players, or that the deals may be shuffled around so that one or the other of the sale prospects will be with some club not mentioned as his destination.

Ohio State Launches Big Ten Campaign in Northwestern Tussle

Wildcats Are One of the Huskiest of Conference Teams; Will Outweigh Bucks Eight Pounds Per Man On Starting Lineup

By FRITZ HOWELL

Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Oct. 18.—Ohio State University's football team, launching its Big Ten campaign against Northwestern here Saturday, will go into the game outweighed.

The Wildcats, one of the huskiest of the Western Conference crews, arrived this morning to go through their final paces at the stadium. Coach Lynn Waldorf brought 35 men for the fray.

The invaders from Evanston will have a weight advantage of eight pounds a man, if both coaches stick to the indicated starting lineups.

Average 193 Pounds

Northwestern will average 193 pounds to 185 for the Bucks with the heavy advantage in the backfield. The Buckeye ball toters, with 142-pound "Tippy" Dye at quarterback will average about 171. The Cats' backs will stack up at 185.

Ohio's line, at 193 pounds a man, is four pounds under the Northwestern forward wall. The game will mark the first time this year the Bucks have gone up against superior weight.

Henry D. Taylor, director of ticket sales at the university, predicts an attendance of 47,000.

The Bucks are favored to win.

Their big advantage is in reserve power. Northwestern, in its two games this season, has shown strength but Ohio is rated two or three coaches better.

In its opening contest Northwestern defeated DePaul 14 to 0, and then dropped at 7 to 0 decision to Purdue. Purdue defeated Fordham, one of the east's best, 20 to 0, last week.

Records to Date

Ohio holds a 19 to 6 verdict over Kentucky and an 85 to 7 win over Drake. Northwestern, after losing to Purdue, took a week off, and the 14-day rest may play a big part in Saturday's event.

Ohio holds a long lead over Northwestern in the all-time series between the teams. They opened relations in 1913, the year Ohio entered the Western Conference. The Bucks copped the first five games by overwhelming scores. In those five years the Wildcats scored but three points to Ohio's 182.

Ten years passed before they met again. In 1927 Northwestern won 19 to 13. Ohio won, 10 to 0, the next season, but the Cats came back for three victories in a row. The last three seasons Ohio has been the victor, giving the Bucks an even break since 1927, and a 9 to 4 edge since 1933.

Wooster and Akron Grid Teams Vie For Cow Bell, A Token of Victory

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 18.—As Syracuse, N. Y., Wilberforce meets Tuskegee at Chicago, and Oberlin plays Hamilton at Clinton, N. Y., other contests Saturday include Baldwin Wallace at Western Reserve; John Carroll at Miami, and Bluffton at Rio Grande.

Friday night's schedule takes W. & J. to Marietta, Heidelberg to Muskegon, Haskell Indians to Xavier, Mount Union to Ashland, and DePaul to Dayton.

Fight Results

Phoenix, Ariz.—Hank Bath, 85, Fort Morgan, Colo., stopped Billy Kramer, 203, St. Louis, (1).

Nine Colts and Filly In Training For Kentucky Jockey Club Stakes

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 18.—Ten juvenile hopefuls—nine colts and a filly, which probably will furnish the winter book favorites for the 1936 Kentucky derby—were in training at Churchill Downs today for the Kentucky jockey club stakes at one mile, to be run tomorrow.

Last arrivals were Grand Slam, winner of the rich Arlington futurity, and Grand Duke, owned by Brownell Combs of Lexington, Ky.

4 TOP GOLFERS FACE EACH OTHER

P. G. A. Tourney Halted Last Night Because Of Darkness

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 18.—Four of the hottest campaigners in golf—all of them members of America's triumphant Ryder cup team—were pitted against each other by a hat draw today at the outset of match play in the P. F. A. set-to.

It is not often a golf tournament has to be called on account of darkness, and there was mild confusion last night when gathering night stranded 33 would-be qualifiers on the Twin Hills links.

How They Drew

But confusion gave way to taut expectation when names came out of the hat in the following pairs:

Walter Hagen, swaggering all the more in the role of apparent mediator, vs. Johnny Revolta, and Horton Smith another par cracker, vs. one of the year's outstanding stroke misers, Henry Pickard.

Beside these, only three others of the select Ryder royalty had clinched survival of the qualifying round. They were little Paul Runyan, the defending champion; Gene Sarazen by virtue of some fancy recuperating and Sam Parks, Jr., the open champion.

"Sir Walter" was the Hagen of some six years and more ago when he stroked around the trying course yesterday in one under par, 67-72-139. Few among the standees ones were given even an outside chance of doing better on the wind-up today.

Devise Coup

Tournament devised a coup to beat the day-light, fixing 151 as the probable qualifying limit and drawing 22 by which will be filled as remaining entrants finish their 36-holes preliminary play today. There were 13 fully manned matches ready to go.

There was plenty of thunder beside that of the Ryder company. Gene Sarazen, a favorite who saved himself a deal of embarrassment by a sub-par round after starting roughly, faced George Christ or Rochester, N. Y., whose 149 was only one behind Sarazen's score.

Parks' antagonist was "Light-horse Harry" Cooper of Chicago, who turned in a brilliant 144 while the Pittsburgh comet spent 149. Ted Turner, Clementon, N. J., whose 33 was the first sub par score on nine yesterday, meets Eddie Loos.

The Midland gridders held East Liverpool to a 6-6 tie last year and have high hopes of returning to their home town with a victory after tonight's battle.

River city dopesters place Midland on a par with the Pottery, but the 1935 record of the East Liverpool lads will probably prove too much for their smaller opponent.

After being upset by Steubenville Catholic High last week, Coach Bill Storer at Wellsville has been doing some rebuilding with his squad during practice this week in preparation for the game with Toronto tonight.

Have Met 11 Times

Wellsville and Toronto have met 11 times in past years with the Tigers carrying away honors in six of the engagements. They're favored to make tonight their seventh.

Quakers Seek First County and Second Season Win Tonight

Fred Branntsch Is Declared Ineligible For Game Tonight; Snyder Will Probably Fill Vacant Position

Embarking on a new voyage for gridiron honors after a much improved showing against East Liverpool last week, the Salem High school gridders will be seeking their first Columbiana county and second season victory when they clash with East Palestine High under the lights at Reilly stadium tonight.

An added confidence has been present in the Quakers practice sessions this week, and this new factor will no doubt make its appearance tonight to give the Red and Black gridders the edge over their county opponents.

Function Smoothly

Despite a soggy gridiron the Quakers running and passing attack functioned smoothly in the East Liverpool game and with this as a basis for new courage, they should have little trouble with the Palestine Bulldog.

One vacancy will be prominent in the Quaker lineup. That is the absence of Fred Branntsch, hard-hitting halfback, who yesterday was declared ineligible for participation in tonight's game.

However, this vacancy will not be a difficult problem for Coach Smith since Ralph "Tunney" Snyder, who has already proven his success as a backfield performer, will be available to fill the position.

Battin In Line-up

Snyder, who started the year as a tackle and in the Struthers game was moved into the backfield, has been used on the line during the last two games to occupy the position of the injured Bob Battin.

Battin will no doubt be in his regular tackle berth tonight.

The importance of tonight's contest centers on the fact that it is the first time that these two Columbiana county schools have met in a gridiron engagement since 1929.

The major incentive behind the hopes of the East Palestine gridders to defeat the Quakers hinges around the circumstance that not since 1922 have they been able to perform that feat.

Potters Meet Midland

The East Liverpool High school Potters, who added the Quakers to their string of Columbiana county victories last week, will tangle with a river rival, Midland, at Patterson field tonight.

The Midland gridders held East Liverpool to a 6-6 tie last year and have high hopes of returning to their home town with a victory after tonight's battle.

River city dopesters place Midland on a par with the Pottery, but the 1935 record of the East Liverpool lads will probably prove too much for their smaller opponent.

MINNESOTA TO TACKLE TULANE

Gophers Will Finish Up Ground Work Tomorrow

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Before even making a pass at its Big Ten schedule Minnesota will try to finish the ground work for national gridiron honors tomorrow at the expense of Tulane's green wave at Minneapolis.

A similar arrangement last year worked out perfectly. In their first two major battles in 1934, the Gophers polished off Nebraska and Pittsburgh. Then they went on to win the Big Ten title with five victories. The combination of conference and intersectional triumphs left Minnesota with the outstanding claim to the mythical national championship.

The Nebraska part of this year's intersectional assignment was successfully handled last week. Unless Tulane stirs up more opposition than the figures indicate, the Gophers will head into their conference schedule against Northwestern next week, fortified with two major victories.

The game will be the first between Minnesota and the southerners, but at least a few members of the latter eleven will be familiar with Coach Bernie Bierman. Before returning to his alma mater in 1933, the Gopher coach directed Tulane's gridiron warfare.

The battle will be out-ranked or tomorrow's midwest intersectional lineup only by Pittsburgh's invasion of Notre Dame.

The Big Ten speeds up action on its title race with three games Northwestern will be at Ohio State to learn if everything that has been said and written about the big bad Buckeyes is true. Purdue will shoot for its second conference victory against Chicago at Stat field, and Michigan will do likewise in tackling Wisconsin at Madison, Indiana, the only other conference eleven in action, meets the University of Cincinnati on the latter's battle ground.

California Saturday have been literally swamped with applications for tickets to the game with the Illinois. Taylor said. "If this keeps up you will see another sell-out for the Illinois game."

The Illinois game is the last home contest for the Bucks this year. A tickets for the Notre Dame game were sold more than a week ago.

OPPORTUNITIES

Opportunities to buy to advantage are found daily in The News classified adv. columns.

Temporary Stands To Seat Ohio Fans

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 18.—Some of the folks who buy tickets to see the Ohio State-Notre Dame football game here, Nov. 2, will not even get inside the big Buckeye stadium.

But they will see the game. Temporary bleachers, seating 12,000 are being erected at the south end, or open end of the horseshoe, to take care of the unprecedented demand for seats.

Some of those seats extend far over and behind the 12-foot steel fence which guards that section placing some of the spectators outside the stadium.

Predict Sell-Out For Illinois Tilt

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 18.—Henry D. Taylor, director of ticket sales at Ohio State university, predicted today that the Ohio State-Illinois football game Nov. 16 will be a sell-out, the same as the Ohio-Notre Dame contest Nov. 2.

LAZY LIVER MADE ACTIVE

MR. A. J. STARK, of 406 Reading Rd., Cincinnati, Ohio, said: "My liver was in an awful condition and I felt so sluggish and worn-out all the time that there wasn't any strength or energy left in my body and I would drag around day after day feeling half-sick and drowsy. I tried ALL KINDS of medicine, but Indo-Vin was the only medicine I ever found that turned out to be what I needed. It had a great action on my liver and all of my former sluggishness is gone, in fact, I have more energy now than I had IN YEARS, and I never get drowsy like I used to. This is the greatest thing of the kind that EVER CAME HERE. I never saw anything like it and I am PROUD to give you this statement and publicly endorse it to all suffering people. You can get Indo-Vin at the Lease Drug Store, State and Lincoln and the Broadway-Lease Drug Store, State and Broadway, here in Salem, and from all good druggists throughout Wallace Beery, who plays Windy O'Shaughnessy in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "O'Shaughnessy's Boy," a story of circus life, showing at the State theater tonight and tomorrow, again has Jackie Cooper as his starring partner. Henry Stephenson is also in the cast.

Beery was born in Kansas City and when a boy ran away to join the circus, so he is right at home in the circus atmosphere in this picture. After five years under the big top with the Forepaugh-Sells and Ringling brothers circuses, he graduated to the New York stage and won immediate success in musical comedy.

He first faced the camera at the old Essanay studio in Chicago. After 10 years in comedy, a dramatic role in "Behind the Door" started him to stardom. Among his screen successes have been "The Sea Hawk," "The Big House," "Min and Bill," "The Champ," "Tugboat Annie," "Viva Villa," "Treasure Island," "West Point of the Air," and "China Seas."

Jackie Cooper, who plays Beery's son in this picture of circus life, was born in Hollywood. From the time he was born Jackie was destined to be a motion picture star. He started his career at the age of five in "Movietown Follies." Following appearances in "Our Gang" comedies he stepped into the role of Skippy in the show by the same name. This started him on the road to fame as a movie star.

"Skippy" was followed by many outstanding successes, including the three that he played with Wallace Beery: "The Champ," "The Bowery" and "Treasure Island."

In "O'Shaughnessy's Boy" Beery is an animal trainer who loses his nerve and flops when his son is taken away from him by the child's aunt. For years Beery hunts the child and when he finds him, all the old fear of the animals leaves him. Beery goes into the ring and performs his most difficult stunt. O'Shaughnessy is happy again with his boy.

WE ADVISE YOU TO BUY

A-T-T-E-N-T-I-O-N TO THE PEOPLE OF SALEM AND VICINITY

Reisman Bros. are celebrating their First Anniversary in Salem . . . Saturday, October 19th . . .

Despite all forecasts, we have done exactly as we promised people of Salem . . .

We did not enter this city to unload a lot of odds and ends, make a quick profit and leave—

When we entered Salem, we intended to stay, and have always sold the best available merchandise at the lowest possible profit we could operate on—

In any case where merchandise did not give satisfaction, we made amends by either a refund or replacement—In no case however, did we refuse to make an adjustment—

Merchandise advertised or put on display was sold in any quantity desired, we did not limit any of it—

We started in Salem, as in other places, with our famous self-yourself methods of not high-pressuring customers. These methods have proven very successful—Our business in one year has practically tripled itself—for which we take this opportunity to thank each and everyone of our loyal followers.

The majority of our customers may also have noticed, that as our volume increased our prices decreased. It wasn't always a case of using more quantity. But often a case where we could cut our own profit.

All five Reisman Bros. are young, in fact, very young. As a really great surgeon takes great pride in a big operation, so do we take great pride in satisfying our customers—

Thanking you the people of Salem for your kind cooperation and promising you more and greater surprises for the years to come.

We Remain,
THE FIVE REISMAN BROS.
